TIGERTMS GMBH

TERMS & CONDITIONS – SOFTWARE UPGRADE AND MAINTENANCE AGREEMENT (SUMA) FOR V7 LICENCES PURCHASED BEFORE 16 NOVEMBER 2026

These terms and conditions apply only where Buyer purchased a licence to version 7 ("V7") of TigerTMS software before 16 November 2026, under the terms and conditions that applied at the time of that purchase. With effect from the SUMA start date stated in the applicable Quote, those earlier terms are replaced by these terms and conditions, which then govern Buyer's licence to that software, the Software Upgrade and Maintenance Agreement ("SUMA") and any other related services provided by Supplier. Buyer acknowledges that, from that date, its licence is no longer perpetual and remains valid only for so long as the SUMA is current (Sections 9 and 16).

1. SCOPE. These terms and conditions apply to, and are incorporated by reference into, each TigerTMS Quote and each purchase order accepted by Supplier. Buyer accepts these terms and conditions by signing the applicable Quote, by issuing a purchase order referencing a Quote, whichever occurs first; no signature on this document is required. The Quote, these terms and conditions, and any schedules or appendices referenced in either together form the entire agreement. There is no other understanding, agreement, or representation that in any way limits, extends, defines or relates to the provision hereunder. Any terms or conditions (other than delineation of the products being ordered) or other document that purports to add, delete, void or otherwise amend any term or condition herein are agreed to be null and void. In these terms and conditions: "Supplier" means TigerTMS GmbH, a limited liability company (Gesellschaft mit beschränkter Haftung) registered in the commercial register of the local court (Amtsgericht) of Düsseldorf under number HRB 91321, whose registered office is at Breite Strasse 3, 40213 Düsseldorf, Germany; "Buyer" means the person named as the customer in the applicable Quote; "Quote" means the TigerTMS quote, order form, renewal schedule or subscription agreement that identifies the products and services ordered; "Authorised Payment Method" means a bank account, payment card or other payment instrument that Buyer registers with Supplier or with Supplier's payment processor and authorises Supplier to charge or debit for amounts due under this agreement; and "Collection Date" means, in respect of each invoice, the date on which payment of that invoice falls due under Section 3, or such later date as Supplier specifies on or with the invoice. If there is any conflict between a Quote and these terms and conditions, the Quote prevails only as to the products, quantities, prices, payment schedule, support level, initial term and other commercial particulars it states, and these terms and conditions prevail in all other respects. Supplier may issue updated versions of these terms and conditions. The version identified in a Quote governs that Quote. An updated version applies to an existing SUMA only from the first Renewal Date (Section 15) falling at least ninety (90) days after Supplier gives Buyer written notice of it, and Buyer may avoid the updated version by giving notice under Section 15 that it will not renew at that Renewal Date. Supplier will provide any superseded version on request.

2. ORDERS. Supplier reserves the right (without prejudice) to cancel any unfilled Purchase Order or to suspend delivery in the event of any act or omission of Buyer in breach of its obligations hereunder or which delays Supplier's performance hereunder.

3. PAYMENT. Prices are those stated in the applicable Quote or, where the Quote does not state a price for the products or services ordered, Supplier's then-current price list. Upon credit approval by Supplier, payment shall be due thirty (30) days from the date of invoice based on the following payment schedule: Software and Licences in Advance - 30 Days from Invoice or prior to installation/delivery, Professional Services / Installation on Project Completion and Handover - 30 Days after Final Invoice, SUMA fees annually in advance unless the Quote states otherwise. Buyer shall establish and maintain, at all times while the SUMA is in effect, a valid Authorised Payment Method, and shall promptly provide a replacement if it expires, is cancelled or otherwise ceases to be valid. Supplier will collect each invoiced amount from the Authorised Payment Method on the Collection Date, and Buyer shall ensure that sufficient funds or available credit are available on that date. Buyer shall complete and deliver any separate authorisation, mandate or agreement in respect of its Authorised Payment Method that is required by the rules of the applicable payment system or by applicable law. In the event credit is not approved, payment shall be due and payable in advance. Overdue accounts shall bear interest at a rate equal to the lesser of one percent (1%) per month or the highest rate permitted by law. In the event Supplier is required to bring legal action to collect delinquent accounts, Buyer agrees to pay reasonable legal fees and costs of suit. Supplier may adjust its price list and service rates on thirty (30) days' written notice; adjusted prices apply to orders placed on or after the date the adjustment takes effect and do not change the price of an order already accepted. Adjustments to the recurring SUMA fee are governed by Section 16.

4. CANCELLATION. Should the Buyer cancel a Purchase Order, or any part thereof, after 30 days of the date of the Purchase Order, then the Supplier shall use commercially reasonable efforts to utilize the amounts of Products covered by such Purchase Order, or part thereof, that was cancelled. If the Supplier, in spite of using commercially reasonable efforts, cannot utilize such Products, it will charge the Buyer and Buyer will pay a fee of 20% of the total price of the Purchase Order for the cancelled Products; Buyer may prove that Supplier has suffered no loss or a substantially lower loss, in which case only the lower amount is payable.

5. TAXES. All taxes (including VAT), levies or duties of any nature whatsoever applicable to the products sold shall be paid by Buyer unless Buyer provides Supplier with an exemption certificate acceptable to the relevant taxing authority. Buyer agrees that prices for the products shall be inclusive of packaging but exclusive of VAT and that Buyer shall be additionally liable to pay the amount of VAT payable in respect of the product at the time of payment for the product.

6. TITLE AND DELIVERY. Any physical Products shall be delivered directly by the Supplier. Title and risk of loss shall pass to Buyer upon shipment. Buyer acknowledges Supplier has a security interest in the products until payment in full. Buyer is responsible for shipping charges. Buyer must insure goods against damage or loss during shipment or storage in an amount not less than Buyer's cost for such goods.

7. ACCEPTANCE AND RETURN. Buyer shall accept or reject the products within ten (10) days of receipt. Failure to notify Supplier of non-conforming products within such period shall be deemed unconditional acceptance.

8. WARRANTY FOR DEFECTS. (a) Scope. This Section governs Buyer's rights in respect of material defects and defects of title in hardware and software that Supplier supplies against a one-time fee (including software licensed under Section 9) and in

Updates supplied under the SUMA. (b) Agreed quality. The agreed quality of the products is determined by the applicable Quote and the product documentation, including the hardware and system requirements stated there. Product descriptions, advertising and other public statements are not guarantees. Supplier gives a guarantee only where it is expressly described as such in writing. (c) Inspection and notice. Buyer shall inspect the products without undue delay after delivery in accordance with Section 377 of the German Commercial Code (HGB). Section 7 applies to apparent defects. Hidden defects must be notified to Supplier in writing (text form is sufficient) within ten (10) days of their discovery, with a description of the defect sufficient to reproduce it. (d) Supplementary performance. Supplier will remedy notified defects, at its option, by repair or by supplying a defect-free replacement. For software, supplementary performance may also consist of supplying an Update, patch or reasonable workaround that removes the defect or its material effects. Buyer shall give Supplier a reasonable period for supplementary performance and the remote access required under Section 22. (e) Failure of supplementary performance. If supplementary performance fails, is refused or cannot reasonably be expected of Buyer, Buyer may, at its option, reduce the price or withdraw from the agreement in respect of the defective product. Withdrawal is excluded where the defect is insignificant. Claims for damages or reimbursement of wasted expenditure exist only in accordance with Section 11. (f) Exclusions. Buyer has no claims for defects to the extent a defect results from use contrary to the documentation, modification of the products by Buyer or a third party without Supplier's approval, operation in a system environment that does not meet the stated requirements, third-party products not supplied by Supplier, or Buyer's failure to install an Update that Supplier made available free of charge and that would have removed the defect, unless Buyer shows that the defect is not attributable to that cause. (g) Defects of title. If a third party asserts that the use of the software in accordance with this agreement infringes its rights, Supplier will, at its option and expense, obtain the right for Buyer to continue using the software or modify or replace it so that it no longer infringes without material loss of functionality. Paragraph (e) and Section 29 apply in addition. (h) Limitation period. Claims for defects become time-barred twelve (12) months after delivery or, for Updates, after they are made available. This does not apply in the cases set out in Section 11(a), or where the law mandatorily provides for a longer period. (i) Unjustified notices. If no defect exists and Buyer could have recognised this with reasonable care, Supplier may charge its costs of investigation at its then-current service rates.

9. SOFTWARE LICENCE. For all Supplier and third-party software, including Updates, Buyer receives, either Supplier's standard end-user licence and/or the end-user licence that is provided by the third-party software supplier. All Supplier software is licensed, not sold. Buyer has paid a one-time licence fee for its TigerTMS software (the "Licence Fee"). With effect from the SUMA start date stated in the applicable Quote, Buyer holds a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable licence to use that software for Buyer's internal business at the property where it is installed (the "Licence"), on these terms and conditions, which replace the terms on which the software was originally licensed. The licence is limited to the products, modules, room count and other scope parameters of the licence as purchased by Buyer, as extended by any later Quote; use beyond that scope, including additional rooms or modules, requires a further Quote and additional fees. The licence may not be transferred to a new owner or operator of the property without Supplier's prior written consent, not to be unreasonably withheld, conditional on the transferee assuming this agreement, the SUMA being current and all fees due having been paid. The Software Upgrade and Maintenance Agreement ("SUMA", Section 16) is mandatory: the Licence is valid only for so long as Buyer maintains a current SUMA for that software. The Licence Fee entitles Buyer to activate and use the software; the SUMA keeps the Licence active and current. If the SUMA expires or is terminated for any reason, the Licence ends at the same time, Supplier may deactivate the software through the licence manager (Section 20) and Section 17(a) applies. The Licence is not perpetual and is not a sale of the software, and the Licence Fee is non-refundable. No perpetual or permanent licence or activation key is granted or implied at any time, including on initial purchase, under any terms on which the software was previously licensed, on the end of life of any product or release, or if Supplier withdraws the SUMA. Supplier may withdraw a licensed product from sale and support ("End of Life") on not less than ninety (90) days' written notice. The sale of products by Supplier does not convey any other licence by implication, estoppel or otherwise under patent, trademark, copyright or other intellectual property rights covering combinations of the products with other products, devices or elements.

10. FORCE MAJEURE. In no event shall Supplier be liable for any damages or penalty for failure to perform hereunder when due to causes beyond Supplier's reasonable control, including but not limited to acts of God, acts of governments, fire, strikes, lockouts, or inability to obtain necessary labor, material or manufacturing facilities.

11. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY. (a) Supplier is liable without limitation (i) for damage caused intentionally or by gross negligence by Supplier, its legal representatives or vicarious agents; (ii) for injury to life, body or health; (iii) under the German Product Liability Act (Produkthaftungsgesetz); (iv) where Supplier has given a guarantee or has fraudulently concealed a defect, to the extent of that guarantee or concealment; and (v) in any other case in which mandatory law does not permit liability to be limited. (b) If Supplier breaches an essential contractual obligation through slight negligence, its liability is limited to the damage that was typical and foreseeable when the agreement was concluded and shall not, in aggregate, exceed the greater of (i) the total fees paid or payable by Buyer under this agreement in the twelve (12) months immediately preceding the event giving rise to the claim and (ii) EUR 100,000. Essential contractual obligations are obligations whose performance is necessary for the proper performance of this agreement and on whose fulfilment Buyer regularly relies and is entitled to rely. (c) Except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b), Supplier is not liable for slightly negligent breaches of its obligations. (d) In the cases under paragraph (b), Supplier is not liable for loss of profit, loss of revenue or other indirect or consequential loss, except to the extent such loss was typical and foreseeable when the agreement was concluded. (e) Except in the cases under paragraph (a), Supplier's liability for loss of data is limited to the cost of restoring the data from backups that Buyer would have made at regular intervals appropriate to the risk. This paragraph does not apply to data that Supplier hosts and is responsible for backing up under this agreement, and it does not limit Supplier's obligations under Section 30. (f) The limitations in this Section also apply to the personal liability of Supplier's legal representatives, employees and vicarious agents. (g) The limits in this Section do not apply to Buyer's obligation to pay fees due under this agreement or to Buyer's breach of Section 18. Subject to paragraph (a), Supplier's liability under Section 29 is subject only to the separate limit in that Section.

12. Subject to Sections 8, 11(a), 11(b) and 30, to the extent permitted by law and the terms of this agreement supplier disclaims any express or implied warranty or condition that the operation of the product will be uninterrupted or error free; that any product is technically immune from, or that the product prevents unauthorized access resulting in the loss of or theft of electronic data, contravention of applicable privacy laws in the jurisdiction set out in Section 13 in respect of personal information relating to the buyer that supplier has access to under this agreement or unauthorized use, including interconnection to the long distance network (collectively, "fraudulent activity"). Subject to Sections 11(a) and 11(b), supplier shall have no liability to buyer in the event of such fraudulent activity.

13. INTERPRETATION. These Terms & Conditions, including any Purchase Order that is incorporated herein by reference, shall be governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Germany, excluding the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG). The parties agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Düsseldorf, Germany.

14. EXPORT. Products, systems, material, technology, tools and technical data delivered by Supplier to Buyer ("Deliverables") may be subject to applicable export controls (including EU regulations) or the trade laws of other countries. Buyer agrees not to export the Deliverables without prior written consent of a Supplier corporate officer or director. If Supplier consents then Buyer shall be responsible for determining and complying with the applicable export and import laws, regulations, compatibility and homologation requirements. In addition, where applicable, Buyer shall not transfer, export or re-export Deliverables to any entity identified on the most current UK government Export Exclusions Lists, or to any country subject to UK embargo or terrorist controls as identified in the UK Export Laws. Buyer will not use or provide Deliverables for nuclear, missile, or chemical and biological weaponry end uses and will not divert such to third parties who are military end users or are involved in military end users without the prior written approval of Supplier.

15. TERM. (a) SUMA term and Licence term. The SUMA begins on the SUMA start date stated in the applicable Quote and runs for an initial term of twelve (12) months, or for any longer initial term stated in the applicable Quote (the "Initial Term"). It then renews automatically for successive twelve (12) month periods (each a "Renewal Term"), and the SUMA fee for each Renewal Term, as reviewed under the SUMA Fee Review paragraph of Section 16, is invoiced annually in advance. The "Term" of each Licence begins on the SUMA start date and continues for so long as the SUMA for that software is current. Buyer may end the SUMA by giving at least sixty (60) days' written notice before the end of the Initial Term or of a Renewal Term (each such date a "Renewal Date"), in which case the SUMA, the Licence and the Term end on that Renewal Date. Where cancellation is requested after that notice date but before the Renewal Date, a cancellation charge of fifty percent (50%) of the renewal value applies as flat-rate compensation for Supplier's loss, unless Buyer proves that Supplier has suffered no loss or a substantially lower loss, in which case only the lower amount is payable; a renewal cannot be cancelled after the Renewal Date.

16. SOFTWARE UPGRADE AND MAINTENANCE AGREEMENT. Each Licence requires a Software Upgrade and Maintenance Agreement ("SUMA"), which is mandatory and forms an integral part of the Licence. The SUMA covers all Supplier software licensed to Buyer for the property, including any modules or rooms added later. Without a current SUMA the Licence is not valid and Supplier may deactivate the software (Sections 9, 17(a) and 20). The SUMA fee for the Initial Term is stated in the applicable Quote (or, if not stated, is twenty percent (20%) of the licence value of the software per year), is invoiced annually in advance and payable in accordance with Section 3, and covers software and interface updates, security patches and the support services set out in Section 21. No separate support fee applies. Supplier does not warrant that any particular release, feature or third-party interface will be developed or made available. Professional services are chargeable only as set out in the Installation of Updates paragraph below.

UPDATES AND NEW OFFERINGS. "Updates" means corrections, security patches, interface updates, minor and major releases and functional improvements to the products and modules licensed to Buyer which Supplier makes generally available to customers holding an active SUMA at no additional charge. Updates are included in the SUMA. "New Offerings" means any product, module, feature or service that Supplier makes generally available to its customers on a separately priced basis, whether delivered as a new product or as optional functionality within a licensed product. New Offerings are not included in the SUMA and require a further Quote. Where Buyer acquires a New Offering, the licence value increases and the SUMA fee increases in accordance with the SUMA Fee Review paragraph below. An active SUMA confers no right or licence to any New Offering, or to any product or module not licensed to Buyer.

SUPPORTED BASELINE. Supplier supports only the current major release of each licensed product and the immediately preceding major release (together, the "supported baseline"); no earlier release is supported. A "major release" is a release that Supplier designates as such, normally identified by a change in the first number of the version (for example, from version 5.x to version 6.0). When Supplier issues a new major release, it will give not less than ninety (90) days' written notice before support for the release that falls outside the supported baseline ends, after which Supplier has no obligation under Section 21 in respect of that release. Buyer is responsible for keeping its installation on the supported baseline, and installation of Updates for that purpose is governed by the Installation of Updates paragraph below.

INSTALLATION OF UPDATES AND PROFESSIONAL SERVICES. Installation of Updates, including major releases (for example, from version 7.x to version 8.x) and minor releases (for example, from version 8.1 to version 8.2), is included in the SUMA where Supplier can carry it out remotely, during Supplier's normal business hours, on an environment that meets the technical prerequisites Supplier notifies to Buyer for that release. Supplier may instead make an Update available for installation by Buyer. All other work is professional services, chargeable at Supplier's then-current rates or as stated in a Quote, including: (i) work needed because Buyer's servers, operating systems, databases, network or third-party systems (such as the property management system or telephone system) do not meet those prerequisites, including upgrading or replacing them; (ii) on-site attendance, or work outside Supplier's normal business hours, at Buyer's request; (iii) data migration, reconfiguration, and custom reports, interfaces or development; (iv) changes needed because a third party has changed its system or interface; (v) moving from a release outside the supported baseline, or moving to a replacement product rather than a new release of the licensed product; (vi) additional work caused by Buyer's delay or by a lack of access, information or resources from Buyer; and (vii) training. Supplier will tell Buyer before starting any chargeable work.

SUMA FEE REVIEW. The SUMA fee is fixed for the Initial Term and for each Renewal Term, and cannot be changed during either. The SUMA fee for the Initial Term is as stated in the applicable Quote. With effect from the start of each Renewal Term, the SUMA fee will increase by at least the percentage increase in the Index over the twelve (12) months ending with the latest figure published before Supplier's notice (the "Minimum Increase"), and Supplier may apply a greater increase. Supplier will give Buyer at least ninety (90) days' written notice of the increase, which may be given by email; if Supplier does not give that notice, only the Minimum Increase applies, and a late notice does not extend Buyer's notice period. Buyer may decline an increase by ending the SUMA under Section 15(a). Supplier may at its discretion apply a lower increase or none, and the SUMA fee will not decrease. Where the licensed scope increases (Section 24), the SUMA fee for the additional products or scope is twenty percent (20%) of their licence value, charged pro rata from delivery to the end of the current Initial Term or Renewal Term and then as part of the SUMA fee for each Renewal Term. "Index" means the Harmonised Index of Consumer Prices for the euro area, all items, published by Eurostat; if the Index ceases to be published or is materially reformulated, the nearest equivalent official index published for the same territory applies.

17. SUSPENSION AND TERMINATION. (a) Licensed software. If a SUMA fee remains unpaid thirty (30) days after its due date, Supplier may suspend delivery of software updates, security patches and support. If it remains unpaid forty-five (45) days after its due date, Supplier may give Buyer written notice that the Licence will be deactivated. If payment is not received within fifteen (15) days of that notice, Supplier may terminate the SUMA and the Licence and deactivate the software through the licence manager (Section 20), and Buyer shall cease all use of the software. Fees for the current Initial Term or Renewal Term remain payable in full. Where the SUMA has ended for any reason, the Licence may be reactivated only on payment of (i) all SUMA fees that would have been payable for the period since the SUMA ended, (ii) the SUMA fee for the following twelve (12) months, and (iii) Supplier's then-current reactivation fee. (b) Either party may terminate on written notice if the other commits a material breach and fails to remedy it within thirty (30) days of written notice requiring it to do so, or becomes unable to pay its debts or files for insolvency. (c) Payment method. If Supplier is unable to collect an invoiced amount from the Authorised Payment Method on the Collection Date, or Buyer fails to establish or maintain a valid Authorised Payment Method, and Buyer does not pay the amount or provide a valid Authorised Payment Method within ten (10) days after written notice from Supplier, Supplier may suspend delivery of software updates, security patches and support until payment is received. Section 17(a) continues to apply to the unpaid amount.

18. USE RESTRICTIONS AND OWNERSHIP. The software and all components thereof, including any know-how, methodologies, processes and documentation, are and remain the property of Supplier or its licensors. Buyer shall not, and shall not permit any third party to: (a) resell, license, lease, time-share or otherwise transfer or distribute any part of the software; (b) reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble any part of the software; (c) modify, copy or create derivative works of the software; or (d) use the software to build a competitive product or service. Buyer remains the owner of its own data.

19. RESELLERS. Where the software is supplied through an authorized reseller or partner, these terms and conditions nevertheless govern Buyer's use of the software. Resellers and partners are not authorized to modify these terms and conditions or to make any promise or commitment on Supplier's behalf.

20. LICENCE VERIFICATION AND MANAGEMENT. On reasonable written notice, and not more than once in any twelve (12) month period, Supplier may verify Buyer's use of the software against the licensed scope. If use exceeds the licensed scope, Buyer shall pay for the excess at Supplier's then-current list price, together with the SUMA fee for the excess backdated to the date the excess use began and, where the excess is more than five percent (5%), Supplier's reasonable costs of the verification. The software is controlled by Supplier's licence manager, which limits operation to the licensed scope and to an active Term and may require periodic connection to Supplier's systems. Buyer consents to the operation of the licence manager and shall not disable, bypass or tamper with it. Supplier will deactivate the software only on expiry or termination of the SUMA or in accordance with Section 17, and will give Buyer at least fifteen (15) days' written notice beforehand. Deactivation will not affect any emergency calling function of Buyer's telephone system. For thirty (30) days after deactivation, Supplier will make Buyer's data held in the software available for export on request. Where Supplier hosts that data, it will then delete it in accordance with Section 30(c)(vii)

21. SUPPORT SERVICES. This Section sets out the whole of Supplier's support obligation. "Operational Times" means the coverage of the support level stated in the applicable Quote; "Response Time" means the maximum time within Operational Times which elapses between receipt of a service notification and Supplier commencing the actions below; "the Solution" means the Supplier-supplied hardware and licensed software covered by the SUMA. Upon Buyer reporting an incident, Supplier shall (i) accept and acknowledge receipt of the incident report by telephone or email and (ii) confirm that Buyer has carried out the procedures necessary to establish that the incident is not external to the Solution, and as necessary interrogate the system via remote access, perform diagnostic routines to determine the nature of the incident and identify remedial action. Response Times are those of the support level stated in the applicable Quote; unless the Quote states otherwise, first response is four (4) hours for Business Critical faults and eight (8) hours for Standard faults. Faults are covered 24 x 7 x 365. General enquiries, reporting queries and moves, adds and changes are handled Monday to Friday, 9.00am to 5.00pm service-desk local time, and are not covered by the Response Time targets. Supplier shall use reasonable efforts to meet these Response Times. Business Critical targets apply where more than 30% of users cannot substantially use the Solution or Buyer cannot substantially conduct its normal business. While the SUMA is active, Supplier will carry out one tariff update per year at Buyer's request without further charge, subject to the updated rates being supplied in the required format. Supplier may deliver, install and commission updates and upgrades from time to time; upgrade licences are granted under Section 9. Installation and hardware costs associated with software upgrades are payable by Buyer at Supplier's then-current charges. Supplier's responsibilities apply solely to Supplier-supplied hardware and licensed software; expressly excluded are Buyer network infrastructure, servers and computers, and consumable items. Incidents found to be external to the Solution, or due to configuration changes made without Supplier's approval, may be charged at current service rates. Supplier is not obliged to provide services for Solutions other than on the supported baseline (Section 16), or where any element of the Solution is no longer generally supported by its manufacturer, or at premises other than the Installation Address. Any re-installation of Supplier software on Buyer-supplied hardware is payable by Buyer at Supplier's then-current charges. Damage to Supplier-supplied hardware, whether accidental or intentional, is excluded, and all parts or units replaced by Supplier become the property of Supplier. Supplier may audit the Solution before accepting a SUMA and, subject to the frequency limit in Section 20, during its term, to verify that the configuration matches the Quote and is in serviceable condition. Reactivation after a SUMA has ended is governed by Section 17(a). Supplier's reactivation fee at the date of these terms is €1,072.

22. CUSTOMER SUPPORT RESPONSIBILITIES. During Operational Times, Buyer shall provide Supplier with a Supplier-approved method of remotely accessing the Solution for diagnostics and incident resolution. Where attendance on site is required, Buyer shall provide free access to the Solution and reasonable facilities, and make available a suitably qualified and authorized representative at all times while the service is performed; if such a representative is unavailable, Supplier may charge for a revisit. Buyer shall not permit any person other than Supplier personnel or persons authorized by Supplier to alter, modify, repair or change the Solution. Buyer shall take all reasonable precautions to ensure the health and safety of Supplier personnel while on Buyer's premises.

23. SUPPORT EXCLUSIONS. Supplier has no support obligations in respect of: (i) incidents arising from installation not carried out by Supplier or its appointed representative; (ii) equipment or software not provided by Supplier (such as servers, switches, routers or PCs); (iii) any part of the Solution defective prior to the start of the Term; (iv) equipment subjected to unreasonable physical or electrical stress or excessive temperature levels; or (v) incidents arising from misuse, accident or negligence by Buyer or any other party. Supplier's liability for damage to Buyer's tangible property, and all other liability, is governed by Section 11. If Buyer attaches, or allows a third party to attach, unapproved equipment or software to the Solution, such attachment and use is at Buyer's sole risk and expense, and Buyer shall indemnify Supplier for resulting costs and claims.

24. PROFESSIONAL SERVICES AND INSTALLATION. Implementation, training and associated works are carried out during Supplier's normal working hours by a qualified engineer. Works requested on statutory holidays or at weekends may be subject to a modified installation fee. Support is provided remotely; exceptional on-site assistance is subject to a separate quotation. Any additional one-off development is subject to a price modification. Buyer is responsible for providing the required hardware unless the Quote states otherwise, and for a clean and safe installation location; cabling is not within Supplier's scope. Where attendance outside Supplier's home country is required, travel, lodging and visa facilitation are chargeable to Buyer unless the Quote states otherwise. Supplier is not involved in the installation, configuration or maintenance of the guest data network. Where additional modules are added, the licence value increases and the SUMA fee increases in accordance with Section 16.

25. ASSIGNMENT. Supplier may assign this agreement to any other person at any time by giving notice to Buyer. Buyer may not assign this agreement without Supplier's prior written consent, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld.

26. CONFIDENTIALITY. Each party shall keep confidential all information disclosed by the other party that is marked or identified as confidential, or that a reasonable person would understand to be confidential, including pricing, the terms of each Quote, the software, its documentation and Supplier's know-how ("Confidential Information"). Each party shall use the other party's Confidential Information only to perform its obligations or receive the benefit of this agreement, and shall disclose it only to its employees, affiliates, professional advisers and sub-contractors who need to know it and are bound by obligations of confidentiality no less protective than this Section. This Section does not apply to information that is or becomes public other than through a breach of this agreement, was lawfully known to the recipient before disclosure, is independently developed by the recipient, or is lawfully received from a third party without restriction. A party may disclose Confidential Information where required by law, regulation or court order, giving the other party prompt written notice where lawful. These obligations continue for five (5) years after this agreement ends and, for the software and Supplier's trade secrets, for as long as the information remains confidential.

27. NOTICES. Notices under this agreement shall be in writing and sent to the receiving party at the address stated in the applicable Quote (or any other address notified in writing); notices to Supplier shall also be copied to legal@tigertms.com. Notices may be delivered by hand, sent by recorded or tracked post or courier, or sent by email. A notice is deemed received: if delivered by hand, on delivery; if sent by post or courier, on the second (2nd) business day after posting, or the fifth (5th) business day for international post; and if sent by email, at the time of transmission or, if sent outside business hours, at 9.00am on the next business day in the place of receipt. Notices of breach, termination or a legal claim sent by email shall also be sent by one of the other methods. Notices of fee changes, renewal and deactivation under Sections 16, 17 and 20 may be given by email alone to Buyer's billing or primary contact, or on the relevant invoice.

28. SEVERABILITY AND WAIVER. If any provision of this agreement (or part of a provision) is found by any court or competent authority to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that provision or part shall be deemed modified to the minimum extent necessary to make it valid, legal and enforceable or, if that is not possible, deleted, and the validity and enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not be affected. No failure or delay by either party in exercising any right or remedy under this agreement shall operate as a waiver of that or any other right or remedy.

29. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY INDEMNITY. Supplier shall defend Buyer against any claim by a third party that Buyer's use of the Supplier software in accordance with this agreement infringes that third party's copyright, trade mark or patent rights in the country where the property at which the software is installed is located, and shall pay any damages finally awarded against Buyer or agreed by Supplier in settlement, provided that Buyer (a) notifies Supplier promptly in writing of the claim; (b) makes no admission or settlement without Supplier's prior written consent; (c) gives Supplier sole control of the defence and settlement of the claim; and (d) provides reasonable assistance at Supplier's expense. If such a claim is made or in Supplier's reasonable opinion is likely, Supplier may at its option and expense procure the right for Buyer to continue using the software, modify or replace the software so that it is non-infringing without material loss of functionality or, if neither is reasonably practicable, terminate the Licence for the affected software and refund the Licence Fee paid for it, less twenty percent (20%) for each full year since delivery, together with any prepaid SUMA fees for the unexpired period. Supplier has no liability under this Section for any claim arising from (i) modification of the software by anyone other than Supplier; (ii) combination of the software with products, software, data or interfaces not supplied by Supplier; (iii) use of the software other than in accordance with this agreement and its documentation; (iv) third-party software; or (v) Buyer's continued use of the software after Supplier has made a non-infringing alternative available. Supplier's total liability under this Section shall not exceed two (2) times the total fees paid by Buyer under this agreement in the twelve (12) months before the claim. This Section states Buyer's sole and exclusive remedy, and Supplier's entire liability, for third-party intellectual property infringement claims.

30. DATA PROTECTION. (a) In this Section, "Data Protection Laws" means Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (the "GDPR"), the data protection laws of the Member State in which the property at which the software is installed is located (including, in Germany, the Federal Data Protection Act (Bundesdatenschutzgesetz)) and, where applicable, the UK GDPR, together with any other law relating to personal data that applies to a party; and "controller", "processor", "personal data", "personal data breach", "processing" and "sub-processor" have the meanings given in the GDPR. Each party shall comply with the Data Protection Laws in performing this agreement. (b) Buyer is the controller and Supplier is the processor of the personal data that Supplier processes on Buyer's behalf in providing the software, support and professional services ("Buyer Personal Data"). The subject matter and duration of the processing are the provision of those products and services for the term of this agreement. The nature and purpose of the processing are hosting (where applicable), remote access, diagnostics, support, configuration, migration and data export. The types of personal data are guest and staff names, room and extension numbers, call detail and billing records, voicemail and wake-up records, and system user account details. The data subjects are Buyer's guests, staff and system users. Buyer is responsible for having a lawful basis for the processing and for giving data subjects any notices the Data Protection Laws require. (c) Supplier shall: (i) process Buyer Personal Data only on Buyer's documented instructions, which are set out in this agreement, including with regard to transfers of personal data to a third country or an international organisation, unless required to do otherwise by law, in which case Supplier will inform Buyer of that requirement before processing unless the law prohibits it; (ii) inform Buyer promptly if, in its opinion, an instruction infringes the Data Protection Laws; (iii) ensure that persons authorised to process Buyer Personal Data are bound by obligations of confidentiality; (iv) implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect Buyer Personal Data, as required by Article 32 of the GDPR; (v) taking into account the nature of the processing and the information available to Supplier, assist Buyer by appropriate technical and organisational measures, insofar as possible, in responding to requests from data subjects exercising their rights, and in meeting Buyer's obligations under Articles 32 to 36 of the GDPR; (vi) notify Buyer without undue delay, and in any event within forty-eight (48) hours, after becoming aware of a personal data breach affecting Buyer Personal Data, and provide the information Buyer reasonably requires to meet its own notification obligations; (vii) at Buyer's choice, delete or return all Buyer Personal Data at the end of the provision of the services (subject to the export period in Section 20), and delete existing copies unless the law requires their storage; and (viii) make available to Buyer the information necessary to demonstrate compliance with this Section, and allow for and contribute to audits, including inspections, conducted by Buyer or an auditor it mandates, on reasonable written notice, at Buyer's expense, no more than once in any twelve (12) month period (except following a personal data breach or where a supervisory authority requires it), during business hours and subject to reasonable confidentiality obligations. (d) Buyer gives Supplier general authorisation to engage sub-processors, including Supplier's affiliates and hosting providers. Supplier will provide its current list of sub-processors on request and will give Buyer at least thirty (30) days' notice of any intended addition or replacement, during which Buyer may object on reasonable data protection grounds. If the parties cannot resolve the objection, Buyer may terminate the affected SUMA on written notice without any cancellation charge. Supplier will impose on each sub-processor, by written contract, data protection obligations no less protective than those in this Section, and remains liable to Buyer for the performance of each sub-processor's obligations. (e) Supplier shall not transfer Buyer Personal Data to a country outside the European Economic Area unless the transfer is to a country covered by an adequacy decision of the European Commission or is made under an appropriate safeguard under Article 46 of the GDPR, such as the standard contractual clauses adopted by Commission Implementing Decision (EU) 2021/914. (f) Each party's liability under or in connection with this Section is subject to Section 11.

31. GENERAL. (a) Variation. Except as provided in Section 1, no variation of this agreement is effective unless it is made in writing; text form (including email) is sufficient. Individually negotiated agreements take precedence in accordance with Section 305b of the German Civil Code (BGB). (b) Third-party rights. This agreement does not confer any right on any person other than the parties. (c) Entire agreement. Each party acknowledges that this agreement contains all commitments of the parties concerning its subject matter. Nothing in this Section limits liability for intent, gross negligence or fraudulent misrepresentation. (d) Subcontracting. Supplier may subcontract any of its obligations, including to its affiliates, and remains responsible for the acts and omissions of its subcontractors. (e) Survival. Sections 3, 11, 12, 13, 17, 18, 20, 26, 29 and 30, and any other provision that by its nature is intended to survive, survive the expiry or termination of this agreement. (f) Electronic signature. A Quote may be signed in counterparts, by electronic signature or, where the law does not require a stricter form, in text form. (g) Relationship. Nothing in this agreement creates a partnership, joint venture or agency between the parties. (h) Language. This agreement is made in English. Any translation is for convenience only, and the English version prevails.
